Stakeholder Sign Off

- Made a partial list of services + their duration
- Client has to make an account
    - In the future, we can make it so that making an account is optional.
- Making a reservation brings you to a page where the client picks:
    - a service.
    - a date for the appointment.
    - a start time, which will be more controlled for next release
    - once they pick a start time, they will see when the appointment ends, in accordance to the duration of the chose service.
    - they can also leave a note for a special request or something similar.
- We've also made a page where you can see your upcoming appointments.
    - If you are a user of type client, you can only see YOUR appointment information.
- If you are signed in as an admin, you can also see a list of ALL appointments that have been made by ALL users.

You could also include here a list of stories or something that we did, for Dr. Rigby.

1. Authentication.
2. As a user, I can make an appointment.
3. As a user, I can see all of my upcoming appointments.
4. As an admin, I can see all appointments, of all users.
